Hello, and thank you for visiting.

We trust you have visited this site because you are curious about the name Yahweh, or you know the name Yahweh and want to know more.

For those of you who have never heard that name, it is the name the Father of Creation given to men in the beginning, which in Hebrew means "I Have Caused To Be."

If you search the web via Google, currently you'll find 957,000 references. If by Yahoo, 473,000 references.

Now, we know that's a lot of references to the Father's name, so why is our site any different?

Because we do not believe in religion. We do not believe in worship systems. We do not believe in a savior substituted for someone's willful disobedience of the Father's statutes and ordinances, and we most assuredly do not believe the Father of Creation is to be left out of our minute-by-minute lives in this short-lived test we are going through in these physical bodies.

We believe and completely trust the creator of the universe and all that it is made up of, Father Yahweh and no-one else. No man, no woman, no system, no organization or government, only Yahweh.

As believers, we know that He is actively at work influencing our minds in the way we should go through this life, and He is at work setting circumstances ahead of us to make sure we stay on the right path. Our responsibility, simply obey Him.

That's all he asked of Adam and Eve, and had they obeyed Him, you and I would never have had to lift a finger to toil at labor to make income to buy things, nor would you be reading this information right this second.

Every human being on the face of the earth would have had a bountiful crop of food to nourish the body and continue eternal life and our responsibilities would have been limited to tending our gardens, breathing fresh air (no automobiles needed) and yes, even the animals would get along with each other.

But alas, that didn't happen, so we must suffer the consequences of those two first human beings. We have to work to the sweat of our brow to earn income to buy food, housing, clothing, and yes, to even pay for the funeral that wouldn't have existed had they obeyed.

However, He has never left us. Admittedly He disregarded the Israelites for 400 years while they were in bondage in Egypt, that was His choice, nothing we can do about that except understand that He does in fact visit the inequity of the unrighteous into the 10th generation. That fact alone should send us running to Him, His ways, His Statues and His ordinances, not man's.

Be mindful, He is a jealous Father. He has a right to be. After all, He created us, we didn't create Him. Just where were we in the picture when He formed the universe, the stars, the moon, the suns, the land, the waters, the vegetation, the fish, the fowl, the animals and yes, us. So we have no right to leave Him out of our daily lives, nor do we have a right to set Him aside to worship Him only when we think it's time, or when we've been told it's time (Sunday, Saturday, Friday, Wednesday, etc.).

Religion? Our Father didn't start religion. Man did! If religion was of our Father, guess what . . .

it would all have the same mind, the same objectives, the same teachings and it would never ask anything in return. Did our Father ever, ever, ask for money for creating everything? No. He simply asked that we recognize that He did it, thank Him for it every minute of every day of our lives and live in accordance with statutes and ordinances he set in motion that are for our benefit.

How many religions can agree to those statutes and ordinances and FREELY help people abide by them? They can't even agree among themselves, so much so that they literally divide people up into "congregations", preach and teach at those congregations in the way THEY want things to be, and then ask (sometimes demand) to be paid for their efforts.

We know of one religion in the United States that takes from its members $5.6 BILLION a year and owns between $25 BILLION and $35 BILLION in assets, yet their own members are banned from entering some of their "holiest" temples.

Our Father would never cause such confusion and disharmony, so religion just can't be of Him. Can't be, because His objective is to unite. Unity began at the garden and has never deviated. Man has deviated, but the Father has never changed, and promised He never will.

We're here to help you do one thing, open up to the Father who created you. We're not here to sell you anything, start anything, build anything or ask for anything. We are only here to help you see the truth by exposing evil and bringing you back to the waiting arms of the Father of creation. That's all.

It is His influence that is there for the believer. He will guide your mind and set the circumstances for your life, just as He has us.

We want to encourage you not to fear any thing or any one except the Father Himself, for it is He and He alone that makes the eternal decision of life with Him or life without Him. The choice is ours.
